Choosing a Travel Nursing Agency

Every day you struggle to provide top patient care. You're challenged to manage your staffing levels in order to keep your beds and units open. At the same time, you're also focused on increasing revenue, enhancing profitability and better serving your community. The current nursing shortage presents unique recruiting and retention challenges that most hospital administrators cannot solve without help. Our clients repeatedly tell us that finding quality nurses and maintaining budgetary levels are the two most difficult functions they perform. Beginning in the 90s, nurse travel staffing companies began servicing these needs with stringent 13-week models that didn't always fit your specific staffing requirements. These companies focused on providing a nurse to fill the void; however, your need to control costs and patient care were not at the forefront of this effort.

While there are other companies vying for your business, On Assignment Nurse Travel's reputation for outstanding service, and demonstrated ability to find and place the best nurses in the country, sets us apart from the pack. By taking a distinctly different People First approach to staffing, we are changing the world at work. On Assignment has been a leader in placing professionals in short-term, long-term, and contract-to-hire job assignments for more than 20 years.

This approach to placing People First is demonstrated every day by the expertise and commitment of everyone at On Assignment. Our mission is to assure that our clients get the best person for the job, and that our travelers get the best assignment for their skill set; all while keeping your bottom line at the forefront.

As an On Assignment partner, you have a publicly traded, financially stable organization with a proud history of serving the healthcare industry, working for hospitals just like you. With thousands of travelers successfully placed, we have built a longstanding, well-documented track record of providing quality healthcare professionals to the industries' premier clients.

The Changing Nature of Nurse Staffing

At On Assignment Nurse Travel, we understand the changing nature of the nurse staffing market and the challenges you face every day. Whether you need nurses due to local nurse shortages, turnover, increase in census, unit expansions, maternity leave, illness or vacations, On Assignment Nurse Travel provides qualified nurses, ready to work for you in 48 to 72 hours.

Our company and our services provide you with customized solutions, to fit all of your staffing needs. We specialize in Rapid Response and Traditional Travel services in order to create a staffing package that addresses your specific need at any time. Our nurses are available from 4 to 26 weeks, up to 60 hours per week! You pay only for the time they work directly for your organization—no payroll taxes, no unexpected expenses, no hassles.

Experience and Quality Assurance

On Assignment Nurse Travel is dedicated to providing you with qualified, experienced nurses. On average, our Rapid Response nurses have provided excellent patient care for over 10 years! Our in-house Quality Assurance department verifies that each nurse meets the licensing, certification and employment requirements in your state, including a thorough background check. As an added benefit, an on-staff Registered Nurse Manager reviews each applicant's skill set and ability level in order to provide you with a perfect fit, every time.

People First

On Assignment Nurse Travel launched its People First approach to staffing by determining what nurses want out of their career. By focusing on our candidates' needs and career goals, we are changing the world at work. This distinctively different approach ensures that On Assignment finds the most talented and driven nurses. Our nurses focus on providing the best nursing has to offer, yet have the freedom to enrich their lives. Many of our clients recognize that the ability to recruit career-focused nurses provides them with a higher level of patient care.
